April 25 from 7 – 8:30 p.m.

A realistic scenario about a 17-year-old who makes a bad decision involving alcohol will be used as the basis for these informative sessions. Panelists will include representatives from the Sheriff's Department or local law enforcement department, District Attorney's Office, Public Defender's Office, the Department of Health and Human Services and the Circuit Court System or municipal judge. A private practice attorney and an independent insurance agent will also be present to participate in the discussion.

The DFCSP is a collaborative effort that includes numerous individuals and agencies dedicated to making Waukesha County families and communities the first line of defense by mobilizing them in the prevention of youth alcohol, tobacco and other drug use or abuse.
